A Woman at 49.
Money Is Easier.
Defense by Retaliation.
One Animal, Two Brains.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.]

ETHEL BARRYMORE, 49 years old, told friends she was enjoying life as much as ever.

She ought to be enjoying life MORE than ever.

For an intelligent woman real life begins at 49. Wise Providence won't let women do important mental work much before fifty. Up to that age Nature intends women to be busy with children.

THE money situation is better for prosperity and business. Apparently Federal Reserve authorities have decided that promoting usurious rates of interest in order to "let out" respectable financiers that sold the market short a year ago, is not wise.

The price of "call money" dropped to 4 1/2 per cent yesterday, lowest since May 3.

The day before the rate was 7 per cent. Quite a change.

WHEN the president returns from fishing, he might have a commission of his own to investigate respectabilities that sold the market short a year ago and got the Federal Reserve to help them "cover" their foolishness.

LONDON authorities, after the mimic air war, announced unanimously "London cannot be defended successfully by anti-aircraft measures. The only real safety lies in attacking the raiders."

ENOUGH airplanes to repel attack require gigantic air fleets. The best plan is to prepare a great air fleet to drop bombs and poison gas, so that no enemy would dare attack, knowing that its own cities would be immediately destroyed by British forces.

SOME day our country will think about air defense. It hasn't done any thinking yet, hasn't even established a separate air force. We tie our flying forces to old army and navy fogies. That is the leaving management of railroads to an old stage coach line.

ROY CHAPMAN ANDREWS, searching for strange things in central Asia, reports finding an extinct monster "as big as the Woolworth building."

Such an animal, if carnivorous, could carry home in its mouth a couple of big elephants and walk through an ordinary city crushing buildings as it went.

But it had a small head, little or no thinking power. That is why it is no longer with us.

THE biggest dinosaur thus far known had one brain in its head, and another half way down the spine, to work the lower part of the body. It hadn't enough energy in the top brain to work the whole dinosaur.

Sometimes, when you consider our government, you feel that this country is getting in the dinosaur class, and needs another brain located somewhere along the line.

COMMANDER BYRD takes a seal with him to the South Pole. The seals, whales and penguins will also hear a fine talking machine supplied with 150 records.

THE sad little penguins, so gentle, trustful and harmless, will waddle up to hear the music, and get knocked on the head for their pains and eaten.

This reminds you of old kings that sent out bands to play with their soldiers. The soldiers marched cheerfully behind until they were knocked on the head, human penguins.

MIGHTY is the power of time and compound interest. In 1856, 70 years ago, Ehrhardt V. Franz, having made $97,785 in the grocery business, left it in trust. A Federal Court reports that it now amounts to $10,000,000.

PEACE PREVAILS

Manufacturers Renew Agreement Expiring Sept. 30.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 18.—With peace assured in the American pottery industry for two years as a result of renewal of the general wage scale which expires Sept. 30, the executive board of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters held a special session here today. The union leaders will leave for home tonight.

Conference Adjourns. The conference with the labor committee of the United States Potters' association adjourned yesterday afternoon, when a new agreement was signed. Except a few minor changes, it is virtually the pact in effect since 1926. The new scale will become effective on Oct. 1.

The manufacturers receded from their earlier stand to abandon collective bargaining.

W. E. Wells' Statement. "We are not satisfied with the agreement," W. E. Wells, of Newell, W. Va., chairman of the manufacturers, declared today. "We desired to discontinue collective bargaining because we felt it had been abused at times. However, rather than disrupt the meeting which affected the welfare of 20,000 workers, we accepted it. We did desire some few wage reductions, but did not even advance them. We agreed to renew the old wage scale in its entirety for the next two years."

SECOND FLOOD THREATENED IN CAROLINA AS RIVERS RISE

Menace in Eastern Zone as Western Streams Recede.

HEAVY RAINFALL

Leak Develops in Dam at Lake Laure.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 18.—Hundreds of lives and millions of dollars worth of property were imperiled today by a new break in the gigantic Lake Laure dam near Rutherfordton, according to reports here.

Immense pressure was thrust against the dam by swollen and overflowing streams in the western part of the state by torrential rains during the past week.

For several days grave apprehension has been felt because of leaks springing in the structure.

The new break on the north shoulder of the dam cut a large hole.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 18.—With the waters of rivers in western Carolina rapidly receding, eastern North Carolina today faced the menace of floods due to rising streams in that section. The Roanoke, Cape Fear, Neuse, and Tar rivers were all rising and the local meteorologist at the United States weather bureau predicted they would be out of their banks by Sunday due to heavy rains in central North Carolina and Virginia.

The Roanoke river, which has caused the most trouble in eastern Carolina, was out of its banks near Weldon today and flooding farms and doing other damage to property in that vicinity. The river reached a stage of 44 feet at Weldon on Thursday, then dropped to 38 feet, but again began to rise last night on account of torrential rains in Virginia.

The weather bureau said the Cape Fear would probably reach a stage of 35 feet at Fayetteville today. This is just within the flood mark there. It will be four feet above its banks at Elizabethtown on Sunday, it was predicted, and persons living in that section have been warned to abandon their homes.

With the restoration of train and wire service, conditions showed some semblance of normal in western North Carolina where rivers and creeks went on a rampage early this week, causing the loss of at least six lives and property damage estimated to run into the millions of dollars. The state highway commission announced that several highways which have been closed on account of washouts would be opened today.

The dam at Lake Laure in western Carolina, because a menace to persons living in the lowlands last night when a leak developed near one end of the immense concrete structure. Engineers managed to open the flood gates, however, and it was thought no further trouble would occur.

KANSANS HONOR 'CAP' CURTIS' SON, HOOVER'S RUNNING MATE

Senator Awaits Formal Notification of His Nomination.

RECORD CROWD

Radio Audience of 20,000,000 Will "Listen in."

By Robert A. Hereford.

TOPEKA, Kans., Aug. 18.—Today is the big day for Topeka and incidentally for the remainder of the United States which may be interested in the ceremonies attendant upon the notification of a vice presidential nominee that he has been chosen as such by his party.

CURTIS PROGRAM OPENS AT 5 P. M.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 18.—Here is the procedure that will be followed when Senator Curtis is notified of his vice presidential nomination on the south steps of the state house here tonight.

5 p. m.—Introduction of Dr. J. R. McFadden, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Topeka, by Governor Ben S. Paulen, master of ceremonies.

5:03 p. m.—Invocation—Dr. McFadden.

5:07—Introduction of Dr. Sim-eon D. Fess, of Ohio, by Governor Paulen.

5:10 p. m.—Official speeches.

5:30 p. m.—Acceptance—Senator Charles Curtis.

5:55 p. m.—Audience will sing America, accompanied by eight bands present.

Topeka is in the Central standard time zone, and the above program is one hour slower than East Liverpool's time.

Not since the historic flood for 1903 has there been so much excitement in town. For in the shank of the evening when the big green copper dome of the state house throws its sprawling shadow across the great velvet expanse of yard beneath and athwart the huge temporary speakers' stand erected below. The largest gathering in Kansas history will look on while old "Cap" Curtis' boy, "Charley, is formally notified by the Republic party, that he has been chosen to run on their ticket for the office of vice president.

S. D. Flora, the state meteorologist, who is undoubtedly not the least interested among the citizens of this state over the first nominee of major political party Kansas has procured, has been considerate enough to forecast ideal weather for the big doings. Fair and cooler is what Senator Curtis and his audience is to expect. The latter part of the prediction is particularly promising for those who have experienced the sweltering post-harvest season on the Kansas plains.

Ceremonies at State House

But rain or shine Senator Curtis will be notified on the south steps of the statehouse at 5 o'clock standard time. This is the final decision of the sub-committee chairman of the General Curtis committee who have taken into consideration the radio audience of 20,000,000 who will listen in through the vicarious ears of the loud speaker, as well as the immediate audience of 30,000 which will

LIGHTS of NEW YORK

From the Warner Brothers Vitaphone Picture
Story by Hugh Herbert and Murray

Pictures by HANLON

SYNOPSIS: Eddie Morgan and his friend, Gene, buy a barber shop in New York and find it is a blind for a speakeasy. Eddie's girl, Kitty, is working in a night club. The owner, Hawk, annoys Kitty with his attentions. Molly, Hawk's girl, is jealous of Kitty. A policeman is mysteriously murdered. The only clue is a case of Old Century whiskey. Eddie gives Kitty a revolver, telling her to fire it into the air if she becomes afraid of Hawk. Eddie, not suspicious of a frame-up, removes several cases of Old Century whiskey from Hawk's club. Mollie threatens Hawk because of his attentions to Kitty. Hawk orders his gangsters to "take Eddie for a ride." Discovery of the whiskey in the barber shop and Eddie's disappearance would be enough evidence to convict Eddie of the murder. Kitty hears Hawk tell detectives to go to Eddie's shop at 10 p. m. She warns Eddie. He dumps the whiskey into the East River. Hawk goes to the shop to await the detectives' arrival. Eddie charges Hawk with the frame-up. Hawk draws a revolver saying he is going to kill Eddie and marry Kitty. A mysterious shot kills Hawk. They put the body in a barber chair and Gene pretends to shave the "customer." Two detectives arrive and while they are questioning Gene the body falls to the floor. The detectives find the pistol and ask where Eddie is. Courtesy of N. Y. Daily Mirror

THE DETECTIVES rush to Kitty's home and find Eddie there with the girl. "You killed him in a bootleg quarrel," they charge, producing Eddie's pistol with which Hawk was shot. Eddie insists he is innocent, but his sweetheart recognizes the pistol which he gave her to defend herself against Hawk. The coming of the detectives halts the plan of Eddie and Kitty to leave New York at once and get married.

KITTY almost doubts Eddie. If he didn't kill Hawk, then who did? The detectives are about to take the young man to the station when Mollie suddenly rushes in. "I killed Hawk!" she cries. "He made life miserable for me. He was trying to cast me off. I took Kitty's gun from her dressing room and followed him to the shop." All four listen to Mollie's dramatic confession with amazement. "I don't want anybody to get into trouble for what I've done," Mollie tells the detectives.

"HE WAS no good," Mollie goes on, "but I loved him." And then she adds: "It was Hawk who killed the policeman." Mollie's sincerity convinces the detectives. They are moved by her distress and assure her that the law will deal leniently with her because of her help in clearing up the mysterious bootleg murder.

"YOU CHILDREN get away from New York with its bright lights and racketeers," one of the detectives urges Eddie and Kitty. "Get back to the country, where there is plenty of sunshine. East Liverpool — America's Pottery Center.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 18, 1928.

Pottery Industry Peace

The East Liverpool district, center of the American ceramic business, rejoiced today following receipt of advice that peace has been assured for two years in the general ware pottery industry by reason of action taken at the biennial wage conference in Atlantic City, N. J.

Representatives of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the United States Potters' association, after a four-day session, voted to renew the present two-year agreement, with a few minor changes.

The pact, which will become effective on Oct. 1, replaces the old contract which expires on Sept. 30. All wage increases sought by the operatives were rejected by the manufacturers, but the collective bargaining clause, as has been in the case for many years, is a part of the new agreement.

In reaching this adjustment of differences, both sides in the parley made concessions for the best interests of the industry, which, as a result of foreign competition, has faced a fight for its home markets within the last few years.

With the settlement of the wage question, efforts of both organizations should be directed toward obtaining tariff reforms which would mean greater protection to an industry on which East Liverpool is vitally dependent.

Gubernatorial Nominee

Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati business man, is the choice of Ohio Republicans for the governorship.

Although the official tabulation probably will not be completed before tonight or Monday, Mr. Cooper's victory has been conceded by Congressman James T. Begg, of Sandusky, who, on the face of early returns, appeared to be the winner. However, belated reports showed that the Hyde Park home builder and leader of the Ohio Council of Churches had been named as the G. O. P. nominee by a plurality of more than 5,000 votes.

Proving his sportsmanship, Congressman Begg, in a telegram of congratulations, pledges his support to the winner in the primaries and offers to join him in working for the success of the Republican party this fall.

Myers Y. Cooper, qualified by his knowledge of state affairs as well as his recognized business experience, is a man equipped in every respect for the exacting duties of the governorship. And his wide acquaintance in Ohio by reason of his two campaigns should prove of inestimable value in the forthcoming race. He is deserving of the whole-hearted support of the electorate on Nov. 6.

Halide Edib Hanum

There has been frequent mention recently in the news dispatches of Halide Edib Hanum, who came to the United States to be the first woman to lecture before the Institute of Politics, held at Williamstown, Mass. She is one of the most striking women in Turkish history.

In appearance Halide Edib Hanum would seem to be an average woman. A small figure, with straight black, bobbed hair and black eyes, she would pass in many of the cities of the United States as native born. Her brunette type would suggest nothing more unusual than Spanish or Italian or some other Mediterranean descent.

So many things have happened, so many years have passed since the women of Turkey took off the veil, that to mention the old-fashioned harem today is almost unimaginative.

Halide Edib Hanum is a Turk who can write and talk. She is a novelist whose name is known wherever Turkish is read.

Only a score of years ago the 1908 revolution bewitched the old Ottoman empire with the magic word "constitution." A year before the Russians to the north, and the British to the south had together sealed the empire's doom.

It was from the revolution that Halide Edib Hanum sprang into fame. With her husband, a physician, she fled to Ankara. She became a government representative behind the army, writing about conditions in the villages and towns. This, she followed with poems, stories and serials which were published, but which were written in the seclusion of her own harem.

But the break came when her husband married a second wife in 1910. Confronted with polygamy in her own home, she sought a divorce and began earning her own living with two small sons to support. She is to the Turkish nation and the Far East what scores of our women are to the United States and the western world—an outstanding example of what an educated and versatile woman is capable of doing, once she throws off the shackles of oppression and takes advantage of the new freedom which has been given her sex.

Born Dead, But Living

The news was printed the other day of a baby "born dead" and brought to life by means of a lungmotor.

It seems more remarkable than reviving a drowned or electrocuted person with that valuable device.

"The baby was not dead," many will say. It would have been dead by the usual tests. Any old-fashioned doctor, and most modern ones, would have called it dead. It did not breathe. Its heart did not beat. It was "black," from lack of red blood. Slapping it failed to start the breathing. "First aid" manipulation of the chest had no effect. The more efficient lungmotor, arriving perhaps half an hour after the child's birth, started an hour's operation.

"But life must have been in that little body all the time," people will protest. Apparently so. For nobody will contend that life actually came from the mechanical lungmotor into the body.

The real mystery remains unsolved. What is life? And how can you tell when it has really left the body?

Ohioans—winners in the primaries yesterday—crowd the presidential nominees off the front page today.

Candidates are figuring the expenses as well as counting the votes as an aftermath of the battle.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 18.—Just at a time when religion is being considerably injected into a presidential election, the Bureau of the Census has practically completed the Census of Religious Bodies for the year 1926. One by one the results of the census of each denomination has been made public, with explanatory remarks by the bureau officials. This census of religious bodies is taken every ten years, during the year ending with the numeral six. The 1926 returns show many marked changes from those of 1916, and since the brief announcements issued from time to time have not given the whole set of facts surrounding the taking of this census, many erroneous statements are heard about the religious make-up of the population of the United States.

The bureau seeks to learn a rather long series of definite facts about church membership and church property. It seeks to ask every individual church in every community or at every cross-roads a lot of questions. It asks how many members belong to the church, how many are adults and how many are children, what property the church owns, whether it has a Sunday school, what its receipts and expenditures were for 1926, what it spent for benevolence, domestic and foreign missions, and other purposes.

Most of the year 1927 was devoted by the bureau forces to gathering the data from the churches, checking and testing them for accuracy. Then began the extensive tabulation of these data. The entire process engages many employees, much tabulating machinery, and much time in making sure of reaching all congregations. Results are carefully compared with the census of 1916, and careful study given to the more intricate problems arising by consolidations between denominations, changes of church names, and changes in church policy such as altering the ages of baptism or confirmation, or other circumstances which influence the exact meaning of the results as shown in cold figures.

The results having been tabulated with the exception of two or three out of the many hundreds of denominations and sub-denominations show that there are about 60,000,000 church members in the United States. How many more people go to church or consider themselves as affiliated with churches, although not listed anywhere as members, can not be estimated. Of the total, the largest membership is in the Roman Catholic church, which reports 18,604,850 members. The next largest groups are the Methodists and Baptists, with something over eight millions each. Precise figures for the Southern Baptist convention are yet incomplete. These returns are likely to show a few more Baptists altogether than the 8,069,870 members of the 19 Methodist bodies. There are also 19 divisions and sub-denominations of the Baptist faith. The Baptist membership includes a few more than 3,000,000 colored Baptists, while there are in excess of 1,200,000 colored Methodists. Each of these denominations has a Northern and Southern branch, the Methodists being about two-thirds in the north, while the Baptists showing similar preponderance in the south.

The Jewish faith is reported as having 4,087,357 adherents in the United States. This report in 1916 showed only about one-tenth that many members. The change is largely accounted for by the method of counting. In previous takings of the religious census the Jewish congregations as a rule reported only new holders in the synagogues. In 1926 they were asked to report all members of the faith. The earlier figures showed only a fraction of those who attended services of their faith. The 1926 figures probably show all or even more than the regular church attendance.

The 20 Lutheran church groups in America report 4,044,657 members. These various groups of Lutherans cooperate in two ways, through the Synodical conference and through the National Lutheran council. Steady progress has been made for some years toward uniting the branches of the Lutheran faith through these groupings. Next in membership come the nine divisions of the Presbyterians, with 2,625,284 members reported. More than half of these belong to the Presbyterian church in the United States of America. The Episcopal membership is reported at 1,558,566, a very large increase over the 1916 figures, part of which is accounted for by the fact that all baptized members were counted in the recent enumeration, where formerly only those confirmed were included. The Disciples of Christ, with 1,377,595, complete the list of churches having more than one million membership.

The Congregational, Reformed church, Mormons, and Evangelical churches are listed as with between half a million and a million members each. The United Brethren, Churches of Christ, and Eastern Orthodox churches have more than a quarter of a million each. Others with more than 100,000 members are the Christian Science, Dunker, Adventist, Christian church, and Quaker groups. Almost all of these are made up of two or more sub-denominations.

As in the cases of the Jewish and Episcopal faiths, many others show a decided change from the 1916 reports, because of new and more complete methods of recording the membership. The Christian Science churches have never before been reported at all, owing to objections raised by the denomination. The present report of 202,098 members includes a large membership in the Mother church which is not officially affiliated with any local congregation.

Questions And Answers

Q. What is Peter B. Kyn's Indian name? F. E. O. A. The name Eyskahoo was given Kyn by the Stoney Indians. In their language it means painter in words. Only three other white men have been accepted as chiefs by the Stoney tribe. They are the Duke of Connaught, the Prince of Wales, and Lord Willingdon.

Q. How is the personnel of the Smithsonian and National Geographic exploring expeditions made up? I. N. A. In the Smithsonian a prominent scientist who is a member of the staff is given charge of an expedition and his personnel is selected generally from scientists already in the government under civil service. The National Geographic Society's expeditions are in charge of noted experts who have a large following of scientists and students from various laboratories and colleges, eager for an opportunity for such service.

Q. Why are candles so much used in ritual? P. S. A. Candles are used so extensively because they symbolize first known to the world? M. K.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—People transplanted to New York from smaller cities live here many years before they acquire the real "feel" of the city—the under-currents and vital experiences of those who were born and reared here. The comparative stranger knows only the bustling life he sees about him.

He goes from his boarding house to his work and back again, meeting only those who are like himself—strangers. During off hours he visits the movies, the theaters and now and then those cafes reputed gay and patronized chiefly by visitors.

He has been accustomed to the back-fence neighborliness of his home town and is lost without it. The born New Yorker knows nothing of this. As a consequence he acquires a self reliance. What is often mistaken for brassiness is merely his natural way of enlarging his acquaintance.

Young folk especially do not stand upon ceremony. A New York girl will take an excursion boat to Coney Island, and before he is half way there, will have made the acquaintance of some girl. They may never meet again, but before they separate they are calling each other by first names.

This association is not the "pick up" adventure of the streets of a smaller city. Formality of the conventional introduction is usually impossible, and so they become acquainted as casually and naturally as a passenger takes a street car.

When a family moves in New York, even if only a few blocks away it is the same as moving to a different city. It may be years before they see their neighbors again, and so they have by experience become adept in fitting in with new surroundings.

The born New Yorker never suffers pangs of loneliness. Nor is he ingratiating. Indeed flattery freezes on his lips. But he has an uncanny quality of making himself at home. He does not suffer from self consciousness. It is the stranger who struggles for years to realize he is only one in millions and if he wants friends he must step out and make them.

New York has its jealous side, but not so apparent as in a smaller city. A man on the upward climb here may receive a few well aimed brickbats, but when he reaches the top he finds no excitement whatever over his ascent. Too many arrived ahead of him to make it a novelty.

And curiosity here is as pronounced as any where but takes an entirely different form. A skyscraper skyscraper up to the clouds and not a neck is craned, but let a pedestrian stop to hunt a penny and he will block traffic. A man putting on an extra tire will immediately have a dozen bright helpers.

Movie stars, theatrical first nights or a visiting duke will bring an army of goggle-eyed to gaze. Yet there is a large proportion of native population that has never seen the Egyptian obelisk in Central Park, the Woolworth Tower or have they been to Brooklyn. New York to them is just a place where they live.

A bit of tense drama that would incite a merry bout on the stage was unfolded in real life recently in a bootlegging war. A bootlegger was called to a telephone, a feminine voice said: "You have five minutes to pray." And the receiver clicked. He stood meditating for a few minutes. Suddenly there was a bark of pistols and he fell with seven bullets in his back.

Air cooled movies are pleasant havens during torrid days, but unless you care—and who would?—to come out dripping with icicles you cannot sit through an entire performance. Back of me sat a man who had turned up his coat collar and his teeth were beginning to chatter. "If it drops two more points," he whispered to his companion, "I'm going to sell."

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

ASTHMA is a strange disease. It is so freakish in its effects and is so difficult to handle that hundreds of "asthma cures" have been placed on the market. This is not surprising, for the medical profession was baffled for years. In the meantime, the poor sufferers continued to endure the agonies of the disease.

During the past few years we have learned that some persons have a remarkable sensitiveness to certain substances. It is now believed that many cases of asthma are produced by the inhalation of one of many such substances.

The medical profession has come to understand that every asthma patient must be studied as an individual. What will help one is useless for another.

In studying the means of relief the first thing is to find the exciting cause. What do you suppose are some of the irritating substances? Well, rabbit's hair is one. Immediately you will say: "How in the world could I come in contact with rabbit hair? I haven't seen a rabbit for 40 years!"

The hair of Australian rabbits is a common filling for pillows. Likewise, rabbit fur is dyed and used in making neckties.

It is not uncommon to find a person who is never free from asthma in one house and never has it when he visits the home of a relative. This might be accounted for by the presence and use of rabbit hair pillows in the one house and feather pillows in the other.

I read of one victim who was found to be sensitive to the dust of her own home. There was something in it which appeared to excite the attacks of asthma. This might be because of the admixture with the dust of particles of wool or other substance from one particular rug.

But there are other ways of getting the irritating material into the system besides breathing it. Certain protein foods are poisonous to the susceptible. By careful testing the offending food substance is found. Relief follows its exclusion from the diet.

Hay fever is like asthma, but it appears to be caused by the pollen of certain plants and grasses. Golden rod, roses, timothy hay, rag weed and other plants are carriers of the pollen which brings on the attacks. Fortunately only a small percent.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy.

Judge Him by His Mind. Aren't you usually disappointed when you meet the person whose public work you may have admired for years?

Most always he is inconspicuous and ordinary looking. Somehow you cannot make yourself believe he does the work accredited to him.

You wonder why it is that what he does has such an appeal? It may be an artist's work in painting, or in music, or in newspaper work, and it gets the comment and attention.

How does that colorless individual create such rich and glowing pictures?

How can such a small and anemic creature pen thrilling detective tales? That dark, villainous looking man with the beetling, black brows seems to breathe thunderous heavy clouds and yet paints dainty bits of landscape.

They don't look the part, but each has had his blither with the sweet. Each knows the troubles you have experienced, from similar personal ones.

It is expression, not features, that counts. Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

HUNT-LOCHER FIGHT AWAITS BROWN COUNT

Cincinnati Liberal Holds
Small Lead Over
Senator.

FIGURES VARY

Myers Y. Cooper
Thanks Begg for Congratulations.

BY C. H. HADDOX.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 18.—Although Attorney Graham P. Hunt, Cincinnati liberal, held a small lead over U. S. Senator Cyrus Locher, Cleveland dry, today in the contest for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator, short term, it will require the official count to determine the winner.

Friends of Senator Locher today were hopeful that the final official count of the returns from last Tuesday's statewide primary election will show that Locher won the nomination.

Due to the slowness with which the election boards in the large cities are sending their official returns to the secretary of state's office, it was indicated today that Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown will not be able to make his official announcement of the primary election results until some time next week.

Unofficial Totals.

A wide variance was noted today in the tabulation of returns in the Hunt-Locher contest made at the secretary of state's office and that prepared from reports received by Locher supporters here. The tabulation at the secretary of state's office gave Hunt a lead of 689 votes while the tabulation made outside the secretary of state's office put Hunt ahead by the slim margin of 96 votes. Unofficial totals announced at the secretary of state's office were: Hunt, 94,117; Locher, 93,428. The other tabulation gave Hunt 93,566 votes and Locher 93,470, it was stated.

Congressman James T. Begg, Sandusky, who was defeated by Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, for the Republican nomination for governor, today was in receipt of the following reply to the congratulatory message wire sent by Begg to Cooper yesterday.

"Your message of congratulations at conclusion of a fairly fought battle is deeply appreciated. With a united Republicanism in Ohio, as evidenced by your fine spirit of cooperation and good will, Republican success, both national and state, is made certain. Fine to know I am to have your militant support.

(Signed.) MYERS Y. COOPER."

Call State Committee Meeting. Preparations were being made here today at Republican state headquarters for a meeting of the newly-elected Republican state central committee. The session is scheduled to be held next Friday for purposes of organization, including the selection of a chairman, vice chairman and secretary.

Mr. Cooper and other nominees on the Republican state ticket are expected to attend the meeting and address the committee with reference to plans for the Ohio campaign this fall.

It was not known whether Attorney Fred W. Warner, Marion, chairman of the present committee, will be a candidate for reelection.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the neighbors and friends, the Rev. B. R. Johnson, the Rev. A. H. O'Brien, quartette, and all others for their helpful services and floral expressions of sympathy during the illness, death and burial of the beloved wife and mother in our home.

TODAY

Poverty is slavery. The man without a dollar must do what the man with a dollar tells him to do. So get your dollar.

ANOTHER Atlantic flight. Bert Hassell started for Stockholm, Sweden.

Soon the public will feel about ordinary ocean flights with no lovely lady attached as the London bus conductor felt who said to the lady going up stairs holding her skirts tightly: "Legs is no treat to me, ma'am."

MERELY flying across the ocean in a dangerous plane is no longer important. As Henry Ford says, the important thing is to produce a plane that will make ocean flying absolutely safe.

FORTY-FOUR tire manufacturers will guarantee their products, material and workmanship for the life of the tire.

A more valuable idea would be to guarantee lower, fairer retail prices. It is ridiculous to pay 40 per cent more than a tire costs to the man that rolls it across the floor. It doesn't even need to be wrapped up. Expensive distribution is the curse of business.

MEXICAN firing squads are still busy. San Luis Potosi reports seven "insurgents" executed. Fourteen more insurgents were killed in open fighting.

KILLS GIRL, WOUNDS WIFE

Daughter Dies in Attempt to Shield Her Mother.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Enraged because his wife had refused his caresses, Leo Willock, 35, shot and killed his 15-year-old daughter, Sarah, early today, then shot and probably wounded his wife, Mrs. Stella Willock, 32.

The little girl was killed when she threw herself in front of her mother to shield her from the bullets. Her sacrifice was in vain, however. The first bullet killed the girl. Willock then fired again at his wife.

Willock, in a stupor from drink, was arrested shortly after the shooting.

throng over the spacious grass grandstand of the state house yard.

The threatened invasion of Kansas City by the farmer during the Republican national convention which failed to materialize, promised to sweep in upon Topeka today. Streams of gleaming new touring cars and sedans brought by bank accounts accumulated through the season's bumper wheat crop, poured in upon Topeka from sunrise over the numberless channels of finely paved state roads.

The agricultural gentlemen were likewise prepared to fly in upon Topeka. A squadron of 15 planes was expected from Wichita at the trim little airport just south of town. A delegation of ten more planes was awaited from Kansas City.

The political prophets here had some interesting comments about the political significance of the good season. Farmers with fat accounts, they said were less likely to be dissatisfied, and more likely to forget any grievances they might have had over McNary-Haugen difficulties.

ONE KILLED, 13 HURT IN CRASH

OWOSSO, Mich., Aug. 18.—Miss Florence Richards, 17, of Bay City, Mich., is dead today and 13 persons are injured as the result of a three-automobile crash.

Among the injured are Mrs. Alvin Wehling, 25, and Miss Helen Maupesch, 20, of Buffalo, N. Y. Their injuries are not serious.

Mother Killed by Automobile.
CLEVELAND, Aug. 18.—An aged mother was dead and her daughter was in a hospital here today, in critical condition with injuries suffered last night when they were run down by an automobile while crossing the street. Mrs. Anna Eisenberg, 64, was killed and her daughter, Sophie, 33, was injured. The driver is held by police.

Sues for $575 Damages.
As an aftermath of an automobile accident near the Calcutta United Presbyterian church, on July 10, Robert H. Perry was named defendant in a damage suit for $575 filed in municipal court today by Verne V. Carson, gasoline operator in Glenmore.

The plaintiff, who is represented by Cochran & Crawford, charges that his Ford truck was wrecked when it was struck by Perry's sedan.

RAID WHISKY, BEER PLANTS IN CLEVELAND

Federal Agents and Police Find Code
Book.

STILLS SEIZED

Four Clubs Visited by Administrator Bren-nan's Group.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 18.—The alcoholic drouth which has settled on Cleveland and northern Ohio was more severe today following a series of raids by federal agents and police here last night.

The most significant feature of last night's mopping up activities was the finding of a little black book during a raid in Independence village on an alleged whisky cutting plant. Deputy prohibition Administrator Gustave J. Simon believes it is the highly-prized and closely guarded code book of a band of international smugglers, bootleggers and dope vendors.

Two men, giving their names as Joseph C. Kauffman and Allan King, were arrested. The latter prisoner, according to Simons, attempted to escape and threw the little black book away as he ran. It was recovered by the agents. All the entries are in Code, Simons says, and the information is to be sent to Washington, where efforts will be made to decipher it.

Eighty-six 50-gallon barrels of alleged mash, a 100-gallon still and other distilling equipment, 17 12-gallons of alleged alcohol and 2,300 pounds of sugar were seized by the Independence village raiders.

Meanwhile, police were raiding three places on the East Side of the city. Four 50-gallon stills were destroyed, 385 gallons of mash and 60 gallons of alleged whisky dumped into the gutter.

Four of the most prominent beer clubs in the city were raided and closed by agents working under prohibition Administrator William Brennan two weeks ago. Brennan's regime has brought a group of new and vigorous federal agents to the city. Safety Director Barry is investigating to determine why the alleged proprietors of one of the clubs was not prosecuted following a previous raid.

AERIAL SHOW HERE SUNDAY

Trick Flying Slated at Chamber of Commerce Port.

Two airplanes, one from the Mayer field at Bridgeville, Pa., and another from New Castle, Pa., will come to the Chamber of Commerce airport in Madison township tomorrow for passenger-carrying flights and exhibitions in trick flying, it was announced today.

The plane from the Bridgeville field is a Ryan B-1 five-passenger cabin type biplane equipped with a whirlwind motor. This is the same type plane bought by Colonel Charles Lindbergh, after his "Spirit of St. Louis," in which he spanned the Atlantic, had been placed in the Smithsonian Institution at Washington.

The other plane is a three-passenger open type Travelair coming from the New Castle Air Corporation's field. Charges for a 15-minute ride in the Ryan plane will be $5, while a $3 charge will be made for the shorter trips in the Travelair.

Four East Liverpool men have arranged for a flight to Pittsburgh and return in the Ryan plane tomorrow. The craft will land at Bettis field where it will refuel for the return trip to the Madison township airport.

Visiting planes will arrive at the aviation field shortly before noon. A 25-cent parking fee will be made for automobiles entering the grounds during the day.

POTTERYWORKER BITTEN BY RAT

Clarence Highfield, fitterman at the Chester plant of the Edwin M. Knowles China company, is suffering from lacerations on his right index finger sustained yesterday when bitten by a rat.

The rodent attacked Highfield when the latter reached for a mould on a shelf. Highfield shook the rat loose but his finger was ripped from the second knuckle to the end.

In a back compartment of the shelf, a nest of eight rats was found. The mother rat escaped.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Higher prices for the American railroad stocks and "Blue Chip" specialties featured the early trading in today's short session of the market. Indorsement of the reserve board's policies by bankers of the highest standing, prediction by them of a reasonable call loan rate over the fall months and favorable surveys of domestic business by the mercantile agencies stimulated active buying of the so-called neglected issues, of which the rails are now held to be the outstanding representatives.

The reorganized St. Paul railroad common and preferred stocks advanced in good form in the first period, the preferred rising through 50, against Friday's close at 57 7/8. Missouri Pacific common and preferred, Rock Island, New Haven, Wabash and other well known railroad shares sold higher.

Dunn's review pointed that the gains in crop yields reported in the government's crop surveys had helped sentiment greatly, that industrial employment had increased and retail sales enlarged. Important industries have forged ahead under the lead of the steel trade and the outlook is very hopeful.

PARK AVENUE FASHIONABLES FLEE RUM QUIZ

One Hundred and Twenty-five Patrons
Sought.

RUSH TO EUROPE

Night Club Drinkers Fear Trip to Jail.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Sated stiff by the sharpest fangs prohibition has yet bared, numerous Park avenue fashionables who like their cocktails today were fleeing service of subpoenas that would bring them before the federal grand jury Monday. One hundred and twenty-five subpoenas already have been served on ritzy folk from the avenue, actresses, politicians, and business and professional people.

This is the first time Uncle Sam had gone after patrons of damp night clubs along Broadway.

Government men are trying to round up guests of the 30-odd cabarets that were raided along the White Way the night that Governor Smith was named Democratic presidential candidate.

The first stage of that drive was completed when managers, waiters, owners and employees in the clubs were indicted.

What can be done to those who merely drink in the joy palace?

Not much—merely a two-year jail sentence.

Thus it was that steamship lines reported a rush of orders for reservations.

Simultaneously with this new departure in the prohibition campaign against Broadway came an innovation in customs service procedure. When the French liner Ile de France—most modern queen of the seas—sailed, guards stood at the exit gates of the pier, slapping the pockets of the 4,000 males who bade bon voyage to departing friends.

Not a single bottle was said to have been discovered.

HOOVER VISITS GRAND CANYON IN ARIZONA

Republican Nominee
Committed to Boulder
Dam Project.

DRAFTS PROGRAM

Advisers Urge Three Major Speeches in Last Week.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

ENROUTE WITH HOOVER TO WILLIAMS, Ariz., Aug. 18.—Definitely committed in favor of the Boulder Dam project, Herbert Hoover diverted from his return trip to Washington today to visit the Grand Canyon of the Colorado in Arizona.

The Republican nominee left California behind uncertain to return again before election day in order to cast his ballot at home.

Under the circumstances, Hoover will close his campaign on the west coast.

His advisers today were considering a program of three major speeches in the last week of the campaign. One would be made in Chicago as Hoover sped westward to his Palo Alto home. The second would be made at Kansas City and the third, closing the campaign, would be made over the radio, either from San Francisco or from his Palo Alto home on the night before the election.

Hoover, however will have to be won over to this plan as he is a reluctant campaigner. He personally expressed the wish to make but four speeches after his Iowa farm address next Tuesday and it is his personal plan to make only as many speeches as are necessary to explain the Republican campaign issues. Some of his closest friends believe he will veto all requests for speeches on his final trip west.

Languages are no more than the keys of science. He who despises one, slights the other.

Turk Nash Evens Series Count By Trimming Katies, 11-2

Howell Leaves Hilltop Under Hit Bombardment

(Relieved in Third by Mackall Who is Also Hit Hard by Motors; Third Game of Series to be Played Tuesday.

Shelling Cracker Howell, their former nemesis, from the hilltop and treating his successor, Don Mackall, with no greater respect, Turk Nash clubbers, recovering from their lethargy of last Tuesday, laid down a bombardment of bingles last night at Columbian park that drove the Katies to cover early and produced an 11 to 2 victory to knot the series at one apiece.

It was a Turk Nash night. That was clearly discernible from the outset of the game when the Motors began to slap Howell's slants to various sections of the diamond. Then, to aid in his own downfall, Howell developed streaks of wildness. Add to this the several infield errors that were directly responsible for runs and the story is just about told.

That is, with the exception of the fact that Sonny Deshler was pitching more in the Deshler style last night than he was Tuesday. He turned the bat back with six safe bingles, had good control as a general rule, and meted his hits out judiciously with the exception of the fourth when the Katies ganged a triple, double and single with a sacrifice to score two runs, their sole counters of the game.

As a result of the victory, the series contenders have one win apiece. The third game is scheduled for next Tuesday night at Columbian park.

Turk Nash scored in every inning except the third in last night's contest. The Motors' performance in the first frame practically revealed how things were going to go, despite the fact that out of four men who reached the bases, only one scored.

Sayres singled, was sacrificed by McMath and counted on Watson's one binger. Aufderheide hit one through second and Heckathorne walked, filling the bags. With three on, Christy popped up to Jack O'Brosky at first for the third out.

The Motors were more successful in chasing their runners completely around in the second.

After Hunselman had skied out to Withrow in right, Deshler, who Tuesday had struck out three times against Howell, broke the spell and lined a hot single to middle. A single by Godwin, McMath's sacrifice, a base on balls to Aufderheide, and two errors at third then produced four counters.

The Motors went scoreless in the third but broke loose for five more in the fourth, the side batting around. In this frame, McMath led off with a walk; Watson, Aufderheide and Heckathorne singled in succession; Christy and Hunselman and Godwin boosted affairs considerably with a three-bagger and a two-bagger, respectively. Although the Turk Nash catcher smashed a hit good only for three sacks, he completed the circuit without the customary stop at the hot corner, poor pegging permitting him to continue to the plate.

Turk Nash signed off with a single counter in the fifth. McMath, after singling to right, scored on Aufderheide's sacrifice and an infield bobble.

Chuck Kinsey, Jack and Andy O'Brosky and Hall collaborated in manufacturing the Katies' pair of markers in the fourth.

Kinsey started the rally by crashing the leather to the automobiles in right field for three stations, scoring on Jack O'Brosky's double to middle. Andy sacrificed and Jack counted on Hall's single to left.

Kinsey collected two of K. T. K.'s three bingles. Godwin, Watson, Aufderheide and Hunselman each had a pair for the winners.

Bambino to Swat Golf Balls in Country-Wide Tour With Johnny Farrell After Big Series

Will Match Shots With Open Champ, on Handicap Plan, for so Much "Per"; Booking Manager Busy.

By Davis J. Walsh.
NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—It is disquieting to think that we have been deceived about a matter like this all these years but the writer has come into possession of evidence to show strongly indicating that reports of Barnum's death must have been grossly exaggerated, too.

Babe Ruth, greatest of ball players, and Johnny Farrell, greatest of professional golfers, are planning to go on a tour of the country's links immediately after the world's series. Yes, Fatherstone-Haugh; the great man actually has let his commercial side get the better of him. It was a struggle, no doubt. His better and finer instincts counseled otherwise and his nights were sleepless and his days a haggard reproof to the scruples that once he had held so dear.

But all to no purpose. Human frailty triumphed again. In the end he capitulated. Mr. Ruth, the golfer, decided to turn professional. His man of business now is putting out feelers to see what he can do about booking the dual attraction back and forth across the country this fall and early winter. If all goes well, there will be no barnstorming trip for Ruth, the ball player, for the first time in eight years. Ruth, the golfer, will be too busy counting the sap money.

which is the easiest to get and the hardest to count. It takes so long. It appears, however, that the ceremony should take up a little bit of the gentleman's time on this proposition, for they really seem to have something this time—Farrell, the open champion, to draw the golf fans and Ruth to muster the baseball addicts. To make it look good from a competitive standpoint, they are working on a handicap plan that will figure to bring the two great rivals of the links down to the eighteenth hole on something like even terms.

Of course, the number of mugs who pay their way in to watch Ruth's technique will be counted on the fingers of one boxing glove. Plenty, however, will be interested in seeing the greatest long distance hitter known to baseball hit one off the tee. They won't be disappointed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—By beating the Cardinals in St. Louis today and tomorrow, the Giants can take the lead in the National league race; the standing of the clubs then would be:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
New York	66	43	.606
St. Louis	70	46	.603

The fly in this ointment is that two New York southpaws are due to work against the Cards in the remaining games of the series, and southpaws are "the fondest things they is of."

But precedent counts for little in this series. Yesterday the Giants vanquished Clarence Mitchell, their ancient jinx, 3 to 2, for the first time since he joined the St. Louis clubs two months ago.

Larry Benton, New York mound ace, relieved the tiring Fitzsimmons and saved the game by retiring five successive batters. A wild throw by Andy High was converted into a New York tally by fast broken-field running on the part of Andy Reese, ex-Vanderbilt football star.

The Giants now have won nine out of sixteen from St. Louis this season. The fast-climbing Pirates scuttled the Phillies, twice, 10 to 3, and 9 to 1, walloping 30 hits. Traynor got seven bingles nad P. Waner six.

High class twirling featured the other games. Hits by Flowers and Bressler in the ninth gave Buzz McWeeney of Brooklyn a 1 to 0 victory over Blake of the Cubs.

Old Ep Rixey held Boston to three hits and pitched Cincinnati to a neat 2 to 1 win over Greenfield, all three runs being scored in the ninth.

Jack Russell of the Red Sox took a 4 to 3 duel from Lyons of the White Sox by driving in the winning run in the eleventh.

A triple by Muddy Ruel in the eighth broke up the Washington-Detroit game, the Nats getting a 3 to 1 verdict. The Senators took sixth place away from the Tigers.

Other teams did not play.

Callow Fails In First Year As Penn Coach But Looks to Future for Better Rowing Results.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—While "Rusty" Callow hasn't obtained winning results during his first year as rowing coach at Pennsylvania "Rusty" Callow isn't downhearted.

No, siree! He may be disappointed, but he isn't in any sense of the word downhearted.

The results obtained by a rowing coach depend, like a lot of didoes in this thing we call life, upon circumstances.

"Rusty" Callow isn't responsible for those circumstances and probably the University of Pennsylvania isn't responsible. Just like discovering a fly in the ointment—it's often hard to place the blame.

Undoubtedly "Rusty" would have rejoiced at bringing home a winner in his first year at Penn and the university undoubtedly wouldn't have offered any serious objections to such a situation. But it just didn't happen and neither Callow nor the school is downhearted.

Very few rowing coaches accomplish immediate results. The thing is about as rare as a straw hat north of the Mason and Dixon line in the middle of December. Occasionally a gent breezes up from Florida without changing headgear, but as circumstances go you could stand on a busy corner until your feet froze without seeing a Summer chapeau. And the same thing holds true of rowing coaches who make good right off the bat.

Ed Leader did this at Yale and has kept winning pretty consistently since he took over his duties at Old Eli. One thing that helped make this possible was the big outpouring of candidates for the various crews. Ed had plenty of material to work with and it proved to be not only a physical help, but it undoubtedly inspired Leader mentally. So much for Leader and his pace-setting gait.

Last Spring Callow had thirty candidates and twenty came out to try for the freshman crew. But that Callow personality is sure to work wonders at Penn and it wouldn't be at all surprising to see a much larger list of crew candidates clamoring for places next Spring. Maybe, after all, the winning crew spirit isn't as hot at Penn as it really should be. If that Callow urge doesn't excite the campus to bigger and better attention to rowing by next Spring then maybe, after all, Penn doesn't want a winning crew.

Callow has a great reputation as a teacher. He's considered one of the two greatest teachers of sweep rowing in the country and there's ample reason for his rating.

If those Penn huskies will show an active interest and come out in mobs instead of in dribbles there is no valid reason why Penn should not fare exceptionally well on the water. Ky Ebright, the coach of the crack California eight which clearly showed its superiority over the country during the past Spring, was busily engaged for five years in developing his combination. The Bears started to show their strength last year and furnished most of the fireworks during the regular season of 1928.

A good crew, like Rome, isn't built in a day. While there are exceptions they are almost as scarce as long haired gals at a flappers' convention, and that's one reason why Callow isn't downhearted, although he isn't tossing his hat in the air and singing songs of gladness.

National Polo Matches Open In Cleveland

Eastern Team to Clash With Texans Today.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 18.—Everything was in readiness today for the opening of the national polo tournament at the national polo grounds.

The first match will be played at Circle W Farm, Gates Mill, between two hard-riding service teams, the Cavalry school four from Ft. Riley, Kan., champions of the Rocky Mountain circuit, and the Sixth Field Artillery team, of Ft. Hoyle, Md., champions of the south-eastern circuit.

The matches will be played at the Circle W Farm and the Kirtland Country club. Sunday afternoon, at Kirtland, the Chagrin Valley team, present holders of the national polo championship, will meet the Ft. Bliss, Tex., team which held the title for four years.

This is the first time a national polo tournament has been held in Cleveland or the midwest, but, although the sport is relatively unfamiliar here, a good advance ticket sale was reported today.

M'Grawmen But Two Wins Away From First Place

Can Occupy Top Berth in National Race by Coping From Cards Today and Tomorrow; Beat Mitchell.

But precedent counts for little in this series. Yesterday the Giants vanquished Clarence Mitchell, their ancient jinx, 3 to 2, for the first time since he joined the St. Louis clubs two months ago.

Larry Benton, New York mound ace, relieved the tiring Fitzsimmons and saved the game by retiring five successive batters. A wild throw by Andy High was converted into a New York tally by fast broken-field running on the part of Andy Reese, ex-Vanderbilt football star.

The Giants now have won nine out of sixteen from St. Louis this season. The fast-climbing Pirates scuttled the Phillies, twice, 10 to 3, and 9 to 1, walloping 30 hits. Traynor got seven bingles nad P. Waner six.

High class twirling featured the other games. Hits by Flowers and Bressler in the ninth gave Buzz McWeeney of Brooklyn a 1 to 0 victory over Blake of the Cubs.

Old Ep Rixey held Boston to three hits and pitched Cincinnati to a neat 2 to 1 win over Greenfield, all three runs being scored in the ninth.

Jack Russell of the Red Sox took a 4 to 3 duel from Lyons of the White Sox by driving in the winning run in the eleventh.

A triple by Muddy Ruel in the eighth broke up the Washington-Detroit game, the Nats getting a 3 to 1 verdict. The Senators took sixth place away from the Tigers.

Other teams did not play.

Finishers Bow To Furnacemen In Steel Loop

Crandall Victor in Slab Duel With Baume.

MIDLAND, Pa., Aug. 18.—Open Hearth won a 61 decision over Finishing Mills last night in the Steel League. After taking a 4-run lead in the first inning, the Hearthen took things easy until the fourth inning when they added another pair of runs to their total. Crawford, Hearthen's center gardner, made two of his team's six counters. Pitching was close, with moundmen for both nines holding their opposing batsmen to five bingles.

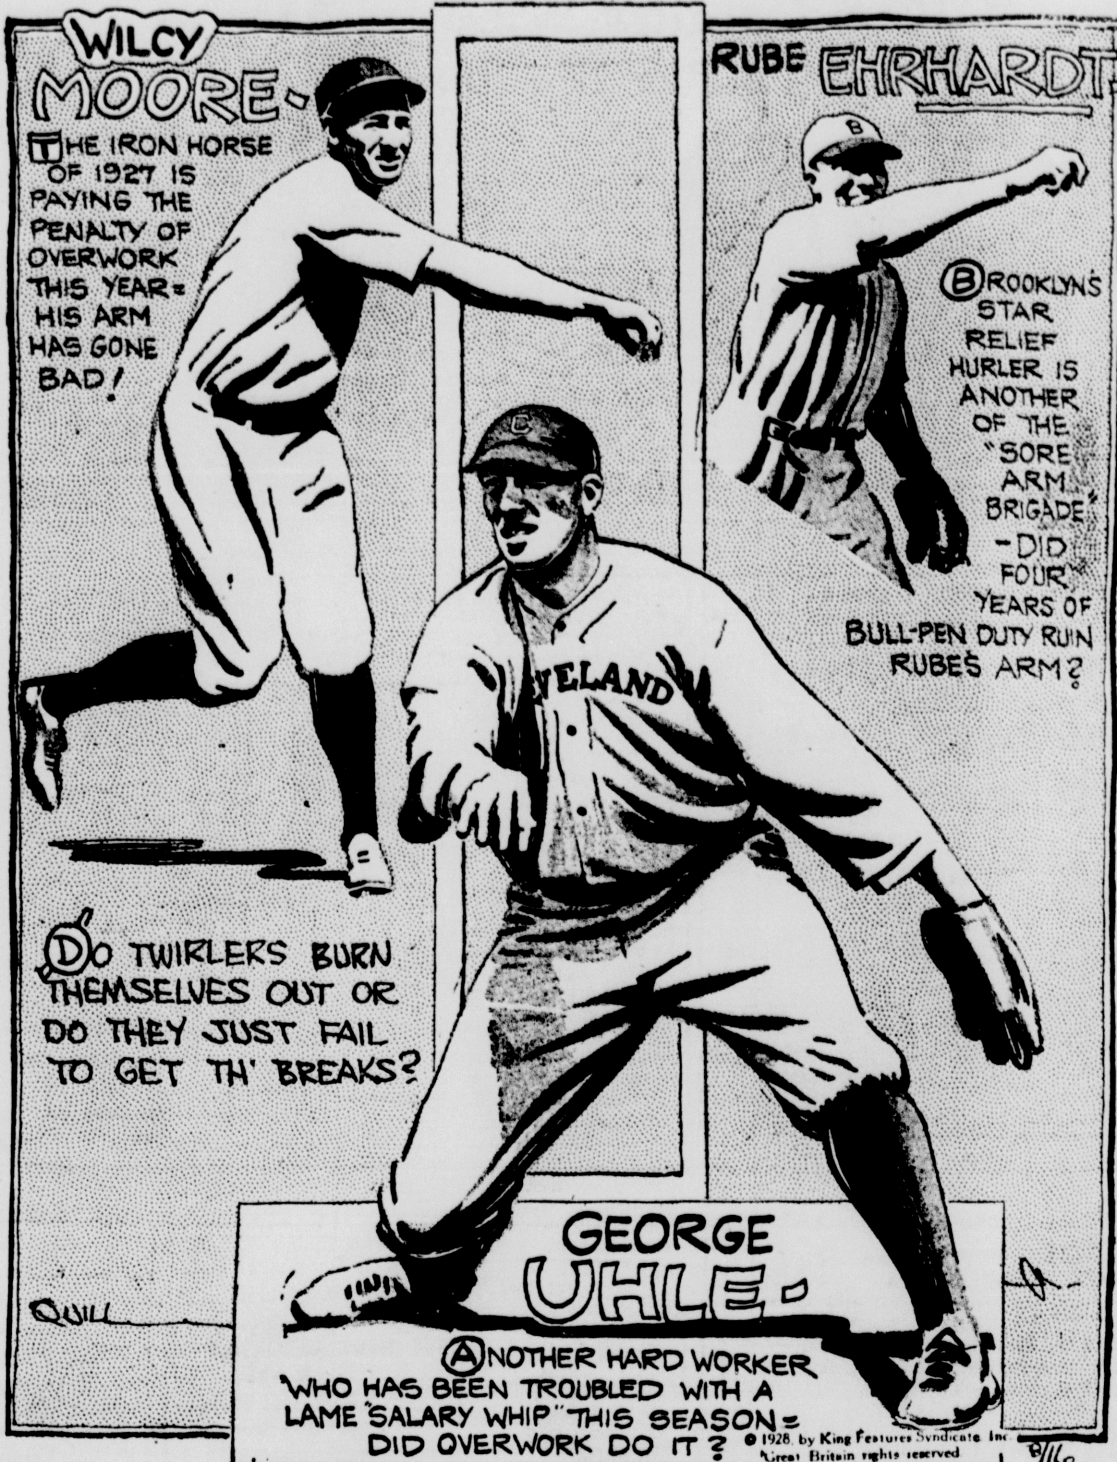

Todd, right fielder, made a grandstand catch in the fifth when he jumped several feet in the air to nab a hard hit ball.

IS WILCY OVERWORKED?

DO TWIRLERS BURN THEMSELVES OUT OR DO THEY JUST FAIL TO GET TH' BREAKS?

WILCY MOORE, one of the ablest pitchers under the big top in 1927, still feels that he will be able to come back strong before the close of the present season and give the New York Yankees a few flashes of his last year's form.

Last season, Wilcy's first appearance in major league company, he was credited with winning 19 games and losing 7, and he was a great asset to Miller Huggins, the mite manager, and the boys who sign the Yankee pay checks, inasmuch as he was one of the sweetest relief pitchers that ever strode out to the hill to take up the labors where some other fellow had left off.

Moore got plenty of exercise during the 1927 gallop, but he hasn't been fooling he batters this year like he did last. And the fans are again bringing up that subject which concerns too much work for the dependable flingers.

Moore, himself, probably would not blame his 1928 showing on overwork. He believes that he is making real progress in toiling back toward the effectiveness he knew in 1927 and contends that his arm feels in the best of shape.

Wilcy had a sinker ball that proved puzzling to opposing batsmen during last year and while Manager Huggins accedes the possibility that this delivery may have left him, he still insists that Moore will prove effective without it. The wee pilot says that Wilcy is a control pitcher and adds that with a knowledge of this of the Cleveland Indians. After having a pippin of a season in 1927, George slumped last year, but at the start of this year it was thought that he would come back and approach his effectiveness of 1927. However, as the season galloped along, the pace began to show, and it is doubtful if the big right-hander will live up to pre-season expectations.

Remy Kremer, who acted rather more or less on the hill last year for the Pittsburgh Pirates, is not proving effective in the National league this year and the Buccaneers have also had to do without the services of Lee Meadows. Meadows has had a sore arm all season and the reason for it has not been discovered. For three years the bespectacled flinger had been a consistent winner and a shrewd worker on the hill. With Kremer and Meadows in their regular form the story concerning the Pirates might have been an entirely different tale.

Rube Ehrhardt, the star relief hurler for the Brooklyn Robins, is another of the "sore arm brigade," and the Brooklynites are wondering if too much duty in the bullpen didn't have a lot to do with the ruining of the Rube's salary wing.

Then there is the case of Charley Root, of the Chicago Cubs, a last year's ace, but Charley refuses to agree that overwork burned him out. And when you get down to cases and get out the lead pencil there are several more twirlers who might well be added to this list—fellows who made good progress last year, but are not proving so effective this season.

It furnishes plenty of room for argument among the b. b. bugs. Are pitching slumps caused by overwork or are the flingers just getting the bad breaks of the game?

Blackburne Is Safe For 1929 With Chicago

Jockeys Sox Into Fighting Chance for First Division.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—That sharp-featured, swarthy ballplayer—Russell Aubrey Blackburne—who succeeded Ray Schalk as "temporary" manager of the Chicago White Sox, very likely will finish the season at the helm of the Comiskey team and certainly will be given consideration as the 1929 pilot.

In a very few weeks "Lena" Blackburne "jockeyed" the Pale Horse from the near-bottom of the second division to a fighting chance for a seasonal ender in the first division.

Discipline tells the story. Schalk was a very likable chap, devoted to baseball and the Sox's owner, Charley Comiskey, but he failed as manager because he used little discipline. When he did attempt to "come tough" with the players, some of the rookies or new members of the club were the victims, while the veterans were permitted a free hand in their conduct.

Blackburne, an old-timer with the Sox, evidently long before he succeeded Schalk, saw the havoc brought by lack of discipline. When he took over the management on July 4 he firmly demanded discipline and he received it. He has been "hard" with the veterans and stars and made them toe the line just as much as the rookies and youngsters. The result has borne fruit in the speedy upward flight of the Sox in the American league team standings.

Comiskey Pleased. Comiskey is said to be very much pleased with Blackburne's results as manager and he is regarded as certain to consider him for manager in 1929. Blackburne, who had been acting as a coach and utility player with the

Righthanders Selected By Rival Flag Pilots

Nicholson Confident Club Will Hit Its Way Through to Pennant; Dickey Sure Old Jinx Will Stop Foe.

For Wellsville—Huffman and Litter; for Laughlin—Digman and Ranaldi. These are the batteries which, in all probability, will work for the City Industrial league rivals in the first clash.

Pilot Roy Nicholson of Wellsville definitely announced this morning that Huffman had been recalled by the club to work from the hilltop during the series. Huffman, while still officially on the roster of the first half champs, has not been pitching during the second half of the campaign, won by Homer Laughlin.

In meeting the West Virginians, Wellsville is facing a jinx that they have overcome on only one occasion this summer. The two clubs have met on the diamond in six contests and in five of the six the West Virginians have been victors. This, then, would not augur well for the chances of the Wellsville combine.

But, asserts the astute Roy Nicholson today, "the law of averages says we must win some time, and I feel that the occasion is but a few hours off. I feel confident our club is going to hit its way through this series for the season's pennant."

That the "Indian sign" Newell has on the Wellsville club will still prevail is the prediction of Poe Dickey, who handles the reins at Newell. "We've shown our superiority in five out of six contests and it's too late to begin to lose now," declares Joe. Today's game begins at 4 o'clock.

Sox, will receive a $10,000 bonus for his work as manager during the second half of the season. Schalk was said to be getting $25,000 a year when he resigned as pilot.

Bucs Bat Out Double Victory

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 18.—Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia in both games of a double header here yesterday, 10 to 3 and 9 to 1. The Pirates collected a total of 32 hits and outclassed the Phils in both contests.

Pie Traynor was the outstanding player of the afternoon, the Buccaneer third baseman making seven hits and two sacrifice flies. Three of his drives were three-baggers and one a double.

Kremer and Willoughby worked the entire first game and Brame went the route for Pittsburgh in the second. Philadelphia used Sweetland, Milligan and Walsh in the nightcap.

Mystery at Styles

A Mystery Serial That Defies Solution

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

think—yes, I am sure you are kind."

Somehow, I was not quite as elated as I might have been. I remembered that Cynthia had begun her confidences in much the same way. Besides, a father confessor should be elderly, it is not at all the role for a young man.

"My father was English," said Mrs. Cavendish, "but my mother was a Russian."

"Ah," I said, "now I understand."

"Understand what?"

"A hint of something foreign—different—that there has always been about you."

"My mother was very beautiful, I believe. I don't know, because I never saw her. She died when I was quite a little child. I believe there was some tragedy connected with her death—she took an overdose of some sleeping draught by mistake. However that may be, my father was broken-hearted. Shortly afterwards, he went into the Consular Service. Everywhere he went I went with him. When I was twenty-three, I had been nearly all over the world. It was a splendid life—I loved it."

There was a smile on her face, and her head was thrown back. She seemed living in the memory of those old glad days.

"Then my father died. He left me very badly off. I had to go and live with some old aunts in Yorkshire." She shuddered. "You will understand me when I say that it was a deadly life for a girl brought up as I had been. The narrowness, the deadly monotony of it, almost drove me mad." She paused a minute, and added in a different tone: "And then I met John Cavendish."

"Yes?"

"You can imagine that, from my aunt's point of view, it was a very good match for me. But I can honestly say it was not this fact which weighed with me. No, he was simply a way of escape from the insufferable monotony of my life."

CHAPTER 31.

I said nothing, and after a moment, Mrs. Cavendish went on:

"Don't misunderstand me. I was quite honest with him. I told him what was true, that I liked him very much that I hoped to come to like him more, but that I was not in any way what the world calls 'in love' with him. He declared that that satisfied him, and so we were married."

She waited a long time, a little frown had gathered on her forehead. She seemed to be looking back earnestly into those past days.

"I think—I am sure—he cared for me at first. But I suppose we were not well matched. Almost at once we drifted apart. He—it is not a pleasing thing for my pride, but it is the truth—tired of me very soon." I must have made some murmur of dissent, for she went on quickly: "Oh, yes, he did! Not that it matters now—now that we've come to the parting of the ways."

"What do you mean?"

She answered quietly:

"I mean that I am not going to remain at Styles."

"You and John are not going to live here?"

"John may live here, but I shall not."

"You are going to leave him?"

"Yes."

"But why?"

She paused a long time, and said at last:

"Perhaps—because I want to be free!"

And, as she spoke, I had a sudden vision of broad spaces, virgin tracts of forests, untrodden lands—and a realization of what freedom would mean to such a nature as Mary Cavendish. I seemed to see her for a moment as she was, a proud wild creature, as untamed by civilization as some shy bird of the hills. A little cry broke from her lips:

"You don't know, you don't know, how this hateful place has been prison to me!"

"I understand," I said, "but—don't do anything rash."

"Oh, rash?" Her voice mocked at my prudence.

Then suddenly I said a thing I could have bitten out my tongue for:

"You know that Dr. Bauerstein has been arrested?"

An instant coldness passed like a mask over her face, blotting out all expression.

"John was so kind as to break that to me this morning."

"Well, what do you think?" I asked feebly.

"Of what?"

"What should I think? Apparently he is a German spy, so the gardener had told John."

Her face and voice were absolutely cold and expressionless. Did she care, or did she not?

She moved away a step or two, and fingered one of the flower vases.

"These are quite dead. I must do them again. Would you mind moving—thank you, Mr. Hastings." And she walked quietly past me out of the window, with a cool little nod of dismissal.

No, surely she could not care for Bauerstein. No woman could act her part with that icy unconcern.

Poirot did not make his appearance the following morning, and there was no sign of the Scotland Yard men.

But, at lunch-time, there arrived a new piece of evidence—or rather lack of evidence. We had vainly tried to trace the fourth letter, which Mrs. Inglethorpe had written on the evening preceding her death. Our efforts having been in vain, we had abandoned the matter, hoping that it might turn up of itself one day. And this is just what did happen, in the shape of a communication, which arrived by the second post from a firm of French music publishers, acknowledging Mrs. Inglethorpe's cheque, and regretting they had been unable to trace a certain series of Russian folk-songs. So the last hope of solving the mystery, by means of Mrs. Inglethorpe's correspondence on the fatal evening, had to be abandoned.

Just before tea, I strolled down to tell Poirot of the new disappointment, but found, to my annoyance, that he was once more out.

"Gone to London again?"

"Oh, no, monsieur, he has but taken the train to Tad-minster. 'To see a young lady's dispensary,' he said."

"Silly ass!" I ejaculated. "I told him Wednesday was the one day she wasn't there! Well, tell him to look us up tomorrow morning, will you?"

"Certainly, monsieur."

But, on the following day, no sign of Poirot. I was getting angry. He was really treating us in the most cavalier fashion.

After lunch, Lawrence drew me aside, and asked if I was going down to see him.

"No, I don't think I shall. He can come up here if he wants to see us."

"Oh!" Lawrence looked indeterminate. Something unusually nervous and excited in his manner roused my curiosity.

"What is it?" I asked. "I could go if there's anything special."

"It's nothing much, but—well, if you are going, will you tell him—"he dropped his voice to a whisper—"I think I've found the extra coffee-cup!"

I had almost forgotten that enigmatical message of Poirot's, but now my curiosity was aroused afresh.

Lawrence would say no more, so I decided that I would descend from my high horse, and once more seek out Poirot at Leastways Cottage.

This time I was received with smiles. Moinars Poirot was within. Would I mount? I mounted accordingly.

Poirot was sitting by the table, his head buried in his hands. He sprang up at my entrance.

"What is it?" I asked solicitously. "You are not ill, I trust?"

"No, no, not ill. But I decide an affair of great moment."

"Whether to catch the criminal or not?" I asked facetiously.

But, to my great surprise, Poirot nodded gravely.

"To speak or not to speak," as your so great Shakespeare says, 'that is the question.'"

I did not trouble to correct the quotation.

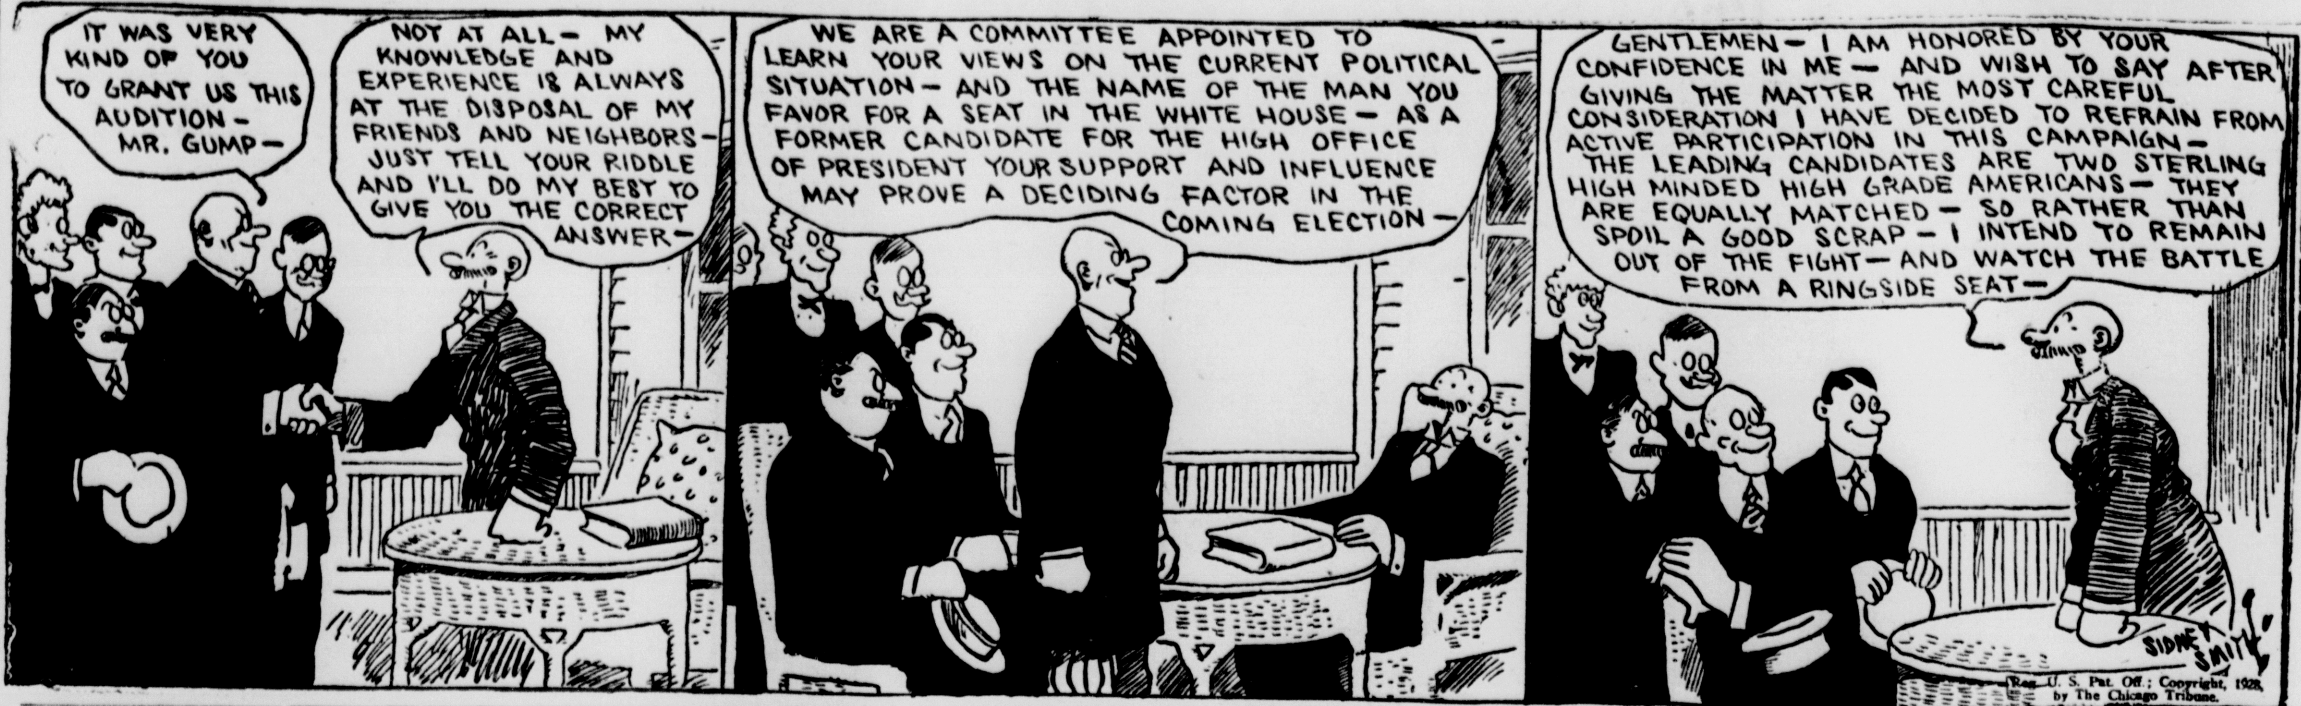

"You are not serious, Poirot?"

"I am of the most serious. For the most serious of all things hangs in the balance."

"And that is?"

MAN AND WOMAN DIE IN CRASH

Three Others Injured When Street Car Wrecks Auto.

UHRICHVILLE, O., Aug. 17.—Death today had claimed the lives of two persons at Midvale, west of here, victims of an accident occurring late last night when the automobile in which a party of five were riding crashed into a southbound Northern Ohio Power and Light company traction car.

Michael Apick, 45, farmer living south of New Philadelphia, and Mrs. Sophia Matarsia, 38, Sharpsville, Pa., were killed instantly. The injured are John Matarsia, husband of the dead woman; his son, John, Jr., 13, and Carl Galtch, 12, Midvale.

The Matarsia family are visiting friends at Midvale during the day and had started for the Apick home when the accident occurred. Matarsia, who

ALL-VITAPHONE AT AMERICAN

"Lights of New York." Warner Bros. first full-length all-Vitaphone picture, will open a week's engagement at the American theater Monday.

"Lights of New York" is unique not only for the reason that for the first time in history all lines of a screen play are spoken by the players—thus doing away with all subtitles—but by the fact that the story which was done by Hugh Herbert and Murray Roth, is one of the most gripping thrill-packed creations ever given to stage or screen.

"Lights of New York" tells the story of two small-town lovers who brave the perils of the Big Town, both getting in wrong. The boy is inveigled into buying a "barber shop" by two New York sharpers, who encourage him to take his mother's savings for the purpose. The shop turns out to be a blind for bootleggers. In a police raid a policeman is shot and the boy is framed as the culprit. The girl has secured work in a night club, whose proprietor it is that has killed the cop, and put the blame on the country boy, who comes within the shadow of the electric chair.

Brilliant scenes of Broadway, the crowds, the glittering night clubs, the river front, the underworld raffish, the police—make the story great—and the voices of the players are amazing in their naturalness and contrast. Helen Costello and Cullen Landis head the all-star cast. Others are Gladys Brockwell, Mary Carr, Wheeler Oakman, Eugene Pallette, Robert Elliott, Tom Dugan, Tom McGuire, Guy D'Amico, Walter Percival and Jere Delaney. Bryan Foy directed.

Ritzzy Rosalie

Many a humorous story and cartoon has centered around the episode of the lost bar of bath soap, the subsequent search for it, and the tragic consequences. Such a thing is unlikely to happen to Rosalie, however, for she believes in safety first, and uses the new bath soap which comes in tubes and squeezes out like toothpaste. It is, in addition to being safe, much more convenient.
